WHEN THEY WAR.
"What is that tune the rascals play?"
Cried Lord Kitchener, stern and grim;
"Hell dir im Siegerkrans," they say,
"It's the German national hymn."

Then Kitchener smote his boot a whack
And roared like a blunderbuss:
"The words were made in Germany
But the tune belongs to us."

DANCE AT BEECHWOOD

Mr. Charles Hopper, Jr., Gives Elegant Affair in Honor of Miss Gage and Miss
Peck of New York

Last evening the pavilion at Beechwood Park was aglow with music, lights and laughter from 9 o'clock till 2 this morning, the occasion being an elegant reception and dance given by Mr. C. C. Hopper, Jr., in honor of his guests, Miss Gage and Miss Peck of New York.

The affair was one of the most enjoyable and brilliant ever seen at Beechwood and nearly two hundred guests attended. Dancing of course was the chief charm of the event and Mayville's younger and older sets were there en costume, and enjoyed the festivities to the utmost.

Following were in the receiving line to welcome the invited guests:

Mr. and Mrs. Charles C. Hopper, Mayville.
Mr. Charles Hopper, Jr., Mayville.
Mr. Francis Hopper, Mayville.
Mr. Russell Hopper, Mayville.
Miss Margaret Gage, New York.
Miss Clara Peck, New York.
Dr. M. T. Hopper, New York.
Miss Lillian Clark, Mayfield.
Miss Frances Clarke, Mayfield.
Miss Alma Hopper, Mayfield.
Mr. William Nelson Fant, Flemingsburg.

The list of guests present is too long to publish, but it must be said that a more attractive assemblage of Kentucky's social set has not gathered here for years.

The music was furnished by the Porchops orchestra of Cincinnati, and it was all that was to be desired for the Terpsichorean feature of the occasion.

Travel was the caterer and his ice and bon bons were par excellent.

Take a Look at Jupiter

Have you noticed the very bright star in the South East heavens these evenings? It is the planet Jupiter, the fifth planet from the sun, and revolves around it at a mean distance of 483,000,000 miles. It is the largest planet, having a diameter of 88,000 miles. It is 1-281 times the volume of the earth, has five moons, four of which may be seen with a small telescope.

Jupiter turns on its axis in a little over 10 hours and revolves around the sun in 29½ years. Jupiter is now one of the most beautiful sights in the evening skies. The small red star below it is Antares, down to the Persians as a goddess in 3,000 B. C. and the Egyptians three centuries earlier. Look at them.

OUR WEEKLY SPORT LETTER

BY C. H. ZURER.

CINCINNATI, O., August 8th, 1912.

The past week has developed no sensational changes in the matter of the fight for the championship in the two big leagues. In the American the Washingtons cut down the margin between them and Boston in a slight degree, while in the National the New Yorks increased their advantage to some extent through continuous victories. Taking general performances into consideration, and noting the fact that the century mark now has been passed by the teams in the matter of games played, and there is no reason to believe that there will be a change in the leaders between now and the end of the season, notwithstanding the fact that Manager Mack, of the world's champion Athletics, declares that his team will still win out, even though they are 100 points behind the Boston. The prospects are that the world's series between the Boston and the New Yorks will be closer contested than were the games for the highest honor last year. Neither team is particularly strong on star twirlers, and in other respects they are pretty evenly matched. In the matter of attendance, these games will draw the largest crowds that ever attended a world's series.

It is doubtful that any baseball season has ever sprung the number of surprises in regard to the work of big league teams that has marked the present year. The wonderful work done by the Reds during the first four weeks of the season furnished the early surprise. Then came the remarkable showing of the Washingtons, the strong performances of the Boston Americans and the weakening of the Philadelphia Athletics. It was a spring season for long shots, and the man who stayed off favorites on the baseball betting had a comfortable summer in a financial way. The Reds more recent showing has been one of the disappointments of the season. However, it is not natural for a team composed of so much talent to slump for any great length of time, and experts look for the Reds to come back any time and make a hot finish of it. The club owners still are diligently pursuing promising youngsters, and expect to exhibit quite a crop of these during the next six weeks. The team returns home next week, and will play its first Sunday game on the 18th, when the rejuvenated Boston archers.

No outfielder in the National League has created the sensation this season that has followed Armando Marsans, the Reds' Cuban outer guard, around the circuit. This chap has all the essentials of a star, lacking a bit of polish, and this he will acquire before another season rolls around. When he does he will be in the same class with Cobb, Speaker, Milan and the one or two other really great all-round performers in the suburbs. Marsans possessing a decided advantage over a majority of so-called stars, and that is his innate love for baseball. It can be truthfully said of him that he would rather play baseball than eat, although up to the present writing he has not been compelled to forego any meals in order to do a little trotting around the field. Marsans has been installed as the Reds' regular center fielder, and will doubtless show great forward strides from now on because of the fact that he has a "stiddy" job.

Sam Langford, the "Boston tar baby," gave Sam McVey, the Californian, a jolly good beating over in Australia some days ago. Langford had been generally picked as the most formidable man to go against Jack Johnson, and had frequently declared that the colored champ was afraid to step into the squared circle with him. However, Langford's chances with Johnson would not have been particularly bright because of "Lil Aritha's" big advantage in weight, height and reach. As Johnson claims to have retired, Langford, by his victory over McVey, is right in line for the heavy weight honor.

Ever since the Olympic games were on there has been much speculation as to why Horine, the California high jumper, made no better showing than he did in his events. It was expected that he would be the sensation of the Olympiad, but in every respect he failed to live up to his record and reputation. The returning athletes from Stockholm bring the reason for Horine's non-success. They declare that the Swedish officials compelled Horine to completely change the style of his jumping, barring his method of going over the bar head first, and compelling him to make his jumps with his feet first over the bar. As a result Horine couldn't do himself justice.

So successful were the pari-mutuel betting machines at the recent harness race meeting at Cleveland, that the prospects are bright that the machines will gradually supplant the human bookmakers. In every instance the pari-mutuels paid better odds than the bookies, the play at times being so heavy that the men at the machines were unable to handle the money. The cleansing of the turf seems to be in the hands of these machines, and according to all accounts they are doing the job well.

SPEED PROGRAM

RUNNING RACES AND HARNESS RACES TO BE GIVEN ON EACH DAY.

Cup Races to be Given Each Day by the Gentlemen's Driving Club at Blue Grass Fair.

An excellent speed program has been arranged for the Blue Grass Fair at Lexington, week of August 12th to 17th.

On each of the six days there will be running races and harness racing on every day but Saturday. The two-year-old stake to be contested during the week, closed with 33 entries including nearly all of the best in training in Kentucky. This race has always been one of the best races of the year for two-year-olds and this should prove no exception to the rule.

In addition there will be a 2:16 trot, a 2:20 pace, 3-year-old trot and 2:22 trot. There will be no deduction from winners except in the stake, the entries to which closed May 10th. Other features will be added and announced later.

THE PARKER SHOWS

Will Present Several Headline Attractions at Blue Grass Fair.

It is always customary for the larger tented enterprises to offer one big feature attraction, sparing neither time or expense to make it the crowning feature of the mighty "Drag." Mr. C. W. Parker, founder and owner of the Parker Amusement Company, who remains at his big factories at Leavenworth, Kan., and directs his various companies from the home office, conceived the idea that a big European novelty would be the proper attraction for his largest company, The Greater Parker Shows. With this idea in view Miss Essie Fay and her beautiful full blooded Arabian were booked for this season's tour of America. Miss Fay, who was an English woman by birth, was touring Arabia with her father, who at that time was a member of the English Parliament. When a guest of the Prince of Morocco at his palace in Tripoli, the Prince was pleased with Miss Fay and presented her with an Arabian yearling. The young lady shipped the horse to her father's stable. While roving the green with her new pet, she formed an attachment to the colt, and he the same to her, and in his grace and beauty, she thought she saw something promising. With his increasing brains and grace, and the careful training of its mistress, "Arabia" was quick to win acclaims of royalty and nobility in the greatest coliseum of Europe.

At London, Paris, Berlin, Naples, Madrid, Moscow, Vienna and St. Petersburg "Arabia," under the directions of Miss Fay, has astonished thousands who have witnessed "Arabia" add and subtract, answer questions, "yes" or "no" by the nod of her head, use the telephone, and do other astonishing feats, displaying an animal intelligence almost unbelievable of any dumb brute. "Arabia" goes to a big brass bed, takes off his night cap, undresses, turns down the covers, arranges the pillows, gets into bed, covers himself up again and apparently goes to sleep. Finishing his exhibition with a startling and exciting fire scene. Crushing down his stable door, he dashes across the lawn to the burning building of his mistress, he reappears leaping through the window with an infant child in his mouth and his mistress across his shoulders. "Arabia" the "fire-fighting" horse will appear in Lexington at the Blue Grass Fair August 7-12.

HALF FARE RATES TO FAIR

Do not fail to visit the Blue Grass Fair at Lexington the week of August 12th to 17th. One fare rates will prevail on all railroads in Kentucky. Every afternoon and evening beginning Sunday, August 11th, there will be magnificent band concerts by Frederick Nell Innes' Orchestra Band, accompanied by Beatrice Van Loan, one of America's younger sopranos, who is recognized as one of the most charming and delightful soloists before the public to-day.

WOMAN'S DEPARTMENT.

The Woman's Department of the Blue Grass Fair, to be held at Lexington, August 12 to 17th, will be more important and extensive this year than ever before. The premium list has been revised, and classes offered cover almost every kind of woman's work and table luxuries. The third floor of the Art Hall is given entirely to this department, and is usually one of the most attractive exhibits of the Big Fair.

This year the second floor will be utilized by the "Made in Lexington Club," and it is needless to say will be made as attractive as possible, and will be an exposition of wares manufactured in Lexington.

On the lower floor the management has arranged with the Canadian Government Exhibit to bring their display of wheat, grain and other agricultural products. This should attract the attention of every farmer in the state, as it is the same display made at big state fairs and expositions.

STORIES CAMP AND WAR

FIGHTING AT FORT STEDMAN

One of First Regiments to Charge Enemy Was 208th Pennsylvania—Stirring Activities.

Your description of the battle of Fort Stedman, March 25, 1865, prompts memory of the stirring activities of the early morning hours of that day I have a letter from a comrade who stated: "After reading the two last issues of The National Tribune on the Fort Stedman fight one would suppose that our brigade was not in it," etc.

You, of course, could not cover the many interesting details, and for this reason I will make some amplification which will probably interest comrades who writes Miles C. Huyette of Buffalo, N. Y., in the National Tribune.

The 208th Pennsylvania was on the Bermuda Hundred front—under Butler in the Eighteenth Corps—from late in August, 1864, until late in October when we were relieved by a brigade of colored troops from the Ninth Corps, and we crossed to the south side of the Appomattox river, and formed a part of Hartranft's Division, Ninth Corps. Our winter quarters were in a depression a little north of the Avery House, division headquarters.

"Form Your Company."

The night of March 24-25 was foggy and damp. The smoke of smoldering campfires hung low; all night long the usual crackle of the muskets of the pickets kept up, punctuated with an occasional "hee-haw" of the army mules. We slept fully clothed about 4:30 a. m. I was awakened by an occasional cannon shot, more intense crackle of musketry—nearly volley firing—and the rebel yell. I thought best to get ready for trouble and, without waking my messmates, I took the three canteens and went to a low spot in the swale, where we had a pork barrel sunk in the mud, and filled the canteens with water. When I returned to the hut a mounted officer or orderly (in the darkness I could not determine which) galloped by from division headquarters, and as he passed shouted: "Form your company, and double-quick for Fort Stedman. Don't wait for anybody."

The company (B) was quickly formed, and we started for the fort. To the left rear of Fort Haskell we ran into the rebel skirmishers. We then lay down and began firing. Our line was nearly at right angle to our main line of works and our left about 100 yards to the rear of Fort Haskell. Mortar shells were dropping by the ton, at an angle from the left, and shrapnel from the same general direction; minie balls and, later, canister, from our own cannon, which had been captured at Fort Stedman and turned on us, from the front.

Fort Haskell was a rim of fire to the north and west. In the darkness we could not determine if or not the foe was in possession of Fort Haskell and it was difficult to prevent the men from firing in that direction. The other companies of the regiment formed on our right.

As daylight approached a slight air movement made a rift in the pall of smoke over Fort Haskell, and we could see Old Glory waving from its ramparts. It looked good, and, oh how we did cheer! The starry flag never before looked so good.

It is a matter of official record that the 208th Pennsylvania was the first regiment to charge the line of the enemy, and cleared the rebels out of our line "from Fort Haskell to Fort Stedman, recapturing Batteries 11 and 12 and capturing 350 prisoners. Scott Eckert (Co. B) was the first man back in Fort Stedman, and he was followed by the right of our regiment.

The order to "charge" reached Lieut. Col. Heintzelman 15 to 20 minutes after we had regained full possession of the works. When the order to charge was given I was on my knees, opening a box of ammunition. Many of the men were out of cartridges and were taking from cartridge boxes of the wounded and dead.

Your description of the close and deadly fighting does not paint the word-picture as red as conditions justified. It was the first place I saw footprints of men in puddles of human blood. Blood was on my boots when the fighting ended. It was hell! When we gained full possession of the works firing ceased.

Not a Single Sheep on One-Third of Our Farms
Farm and Poultry, an agricultural paper published at Springfield, Ohio, says about sheep:
"Out of something over six millions of sheep existing in the United States, two-thirds without a single golden hoof, while lamb dearer than either beef or pork. A fairly good flock of ewes should average at least a lamb and a half per ewe every year, with a fleece and the best of fertilizers thrown in. Would that our farmers would think over this as a change from the consideration of the squabbles of politics. There is less discord in sheep."

What's The Matter
With Your Baby?

The young mother—and many an old one, too—often puzzled to know the cause of her child's ill nature. The loudness of its crying does not necessarily indicate the seriousness of its trouble. It may have nothing more the matter with it than a headache or a feeling of general dullness. It cannot, of course, describe its feelings, but as a preliminary measure you are safe in trying a mild laxative.

Nine times out of ten, you will find it in all the child needs, for its restlessness and peevishness are perhaps due to obstruction of the bowels, and once that has been remedied the headache, the sluggishness and the many other evidences of constipation and indigestion will quickly disappear.

Don't give the little one salts, cathartic pills or purgative waters, for these will act as purgatives, and they are not strong for a child. In the families of Mrs. M. S. Adams, Auburn, Ky., and Mrs. L. M. Boyce, Tip Top, Ky., the only laxative given in Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It has been found to answer most perfectly all the purposes of a laxative, and its very mildness and freedom from griping recommend it especially for the use of children, women, and old folks generally—people who need a gentle bowel stimulant. Thousands of American families have been enthusiastic about it for more than a quarter of a century.

Anyone wishing to make a trial of this remedy before buying it in the regular way at fifty cents or one dollar a large bottle (family size) can have a sample bottle sent to the home free of charge by simply addressing Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 405 Washington St., Monticello, Ill. Your name and address on a postal card will do.

OLD TOWNS

Some Facts About Early Settlement of Neighboring Cities

Ripley Bee.

Ripley is the first town in Brown county to celebrate its Centennial, but it is not the oldest town in the county. This honor belongs to Decatur, laid out in 1802, first called St. Clairsville, for Governor St. Clair, later Decatur after the gallant victory of Lake Erie in the War of 1812.

Brown county and Ripley were also named for noted generals of that war.

Next comes Higginsport, first called "White Haven" by its founder, Robert Higgins, in 1804, but later named for him.

Then little old Levanua was settled at an early date in the century, and men were doing business there from 1808 and after, before Ripley was ever heard of.

Can anyone tell whom or what it was named for?

There is only one other postoffice of the same name in the United States, in Cayuga county N. Y.

It may be named for some locality in Switzerland near Mt. Blanc, or possibly for "Levanua, Our Lady of Sorrows," a strange story by Thomas DeQuincy, the English literary opium eater and dreamer.

Who knows? Who named it?

RAILROAD RUMORS

Efforts Being Made to Consolidate Traction Lines to Promote Their Financial Betterment

Ripley Bee.

There is a new nibble on the interurban traction roads operating out of Cincinnati—aside from the Ohio Electric, which is a Schoep syndicate property—and a combination of the Interurban Railway and Terminal Company, the Cincinnati, Milford and Loveland, the Cincinnati and Columbus and the Cincinnati, Georgetown and Portsmouth properties is not at all improbable.

The new factor in the situation is B. H. Kroger, President of the Provident Savings Bank and Trust Company, who owns about 50 per cent. of the Cincinnati, Milford and Loveland Traction Company. Mr. Kroger spent several days recently with representatives of Eastern financial houses that specialize in traction securities and among whom was a Mr. Lewis of Boston.

The collapse of the Cincinnati Trust Company and the Second National Bank has created conditions in the Interurban Railway and Terminal and the Cincinnati, Georgetown and Portsmouth properties that necessarily make it very desirable for the owners to "get out."

The Interurban Railway and Terminal is the road that Charles H. Davis of the Second National was the head, and George H. Worthington of Cleveland, the chewing gum king, is the principal owner. Since the Clearing House Association took charge of the Second National Mr. Worthington's holdings in that traction property have materially enlarged and much to his dislike. It is said that he owns substantially 75 per cent. of the property, which has $2,500,000 of common stock, $1,650,000 preferred and $1,650,000 5 per cent. bonds outstanding.

On the other hand, the Cincinnati, Georgetown and Portsmouth property is controlled by Elmer E. Galbreath, the former President of the Second National Bank, who operates this property through a lease secured from the Comstock estate, which owns the bonds.

It has been estimated by engineers that a combination of the Interurban Railway and Terminal, the C. C. and P., the C. M. and L. and the C. and C. lines, with a central power station and one administration, would mean a saving of at least $100,000 a year, which represents 5 per cent. on $2,000,000. This is over and above such earnings as they are now making on their bonds, etc.
